Wakhan Corridor 2019

The Wakhan Corridor is a narrow strip of territory in Badakhshan Province of Afghanistan, extending to Xinjiang in China and separating the Gorno-Badakhshan Autonomous Region of Tajikistan in the north from the northern areas of Pakistan in the south. From this high mountain valley the Panj and Pamir rivers emerge and form the bigger Amu River. The corridor is in the Wakhan District of Afghanistan's Badakhshan Province. The northern part of the Wakhan, populated by the Wakhi and Pamiri people, is also referred to as the Pamir.

In Afghanistan, Wakhi primarily live in the Wakhan region of Badakhshan Province. In Gilgit-Baltistan in the north of Pakistan, Wakhi predominantly live in the upper region of Hunza popularly known as Gojal.
